My name is Alban Rouveyre. I am a 37 year old French expat that has called Singapore home for 13 years. I consider myself a TCK (Third Culture Kid). Born to French parents and having grown up outside of France my entire life in London, Switzerland and now Singapore. I am the byproduct of an internationalised upbringing. I think that this has given me a unique perspective and a sensitivity towards cultural assimilation. Singapore being a melting pot of cultures, nationalities and religion is the perfect place for me to call home. I came to Singapore in 2009 to begin my first job in Private banking. I subsequently fell in love with the city and industry. I spent 5 years working in the Non Resident India Team at Julius Baer. I then moved to Pictet where I had a global mandate enabling me to onboard clients without geographical limitations. In 2018 I moved to Amsterdam. I took the opportunity to setup xGEN a fintech startup helping HNWI with technology advisory. Unfortunately due to many factors the service was not getting enough traction and we called it quits. Coming back to Singapore I thought this was a good time to explore new avenues and get back to academia. I signed up to NUS EMBA in hopes of broadening my horizon and meeting new people and places. I am now working for a single family office called DoubleTree Ventures, working on the portfolio management. I am currently in late discussions to join an external asset manager in Singapore.
